2026 Home Performance Market Rate Program Update

Dear Home Performance Partners:

As the Long Island utility programs continue to evolve, so do the eligibility requirements for customer participation. Effective November 2, 2026, market rate customers with a natural gas primary heating system will no longer be eligible for PSEG Long Island Home Performance rebates. Affected customers should be referred to National Grid's Regional Residential Weatherization Program at info@comfortreadymetro.com for further assistance.

The following eligibility requirements apply for PSEG Long Island Home Performance

- Residential customers in PSEG LI territory with primary heating fuel of oil, propane, or electric.
- Combo Projects (Home Comfort + HPwES) originating with primary heating fuel of natural gas, oil, propane or electric.
- Low to Moderate Income customers with primary heating fuel of natural gas, oil, propane or electric remain eligible
- Natural gas primary heating customers remain eligible to receive a Home Energy Assessment.

Please note that the above eligibility will be effective through Thursday, December 31, 2026. PSEG Long Island will provide an update on customer eligibility in December 2026 for the 2027 Home Performance Program.

All open natural gas projects currently in your pipeline that qualify for Market/Market DAC rebates must have their applications submitted in our system by Friday, November 13, 2026. Customers whose projects are not submitted by November 13, 2026 may be eligible for National Grid's Regional Residential Weatherization Program and should be directed to National Grid for additional information and eligibility review at info@comfortreadymetro.com

If you experience any issues with the Home Performance Program or have questions regarding the rebate application, please contact your Account Manager for assistance.

On behalf of the entire Home Performance team, thank you for your participation and support!

Sincerely,

Sophia Desir
